Abstract

The abstract serves both as a general introduction to the topic and as a brief, non-technical summary of the main results and their implications. Authors are advised to use this template in its entirety including structural elements, section heading, subheadings, citations, or equations.

At the end of the template, you need to provide information to the sections entitled Author Contributions, Data Availability, Code Availability, Declarations, Conflict of Interest, Financial Interests and Computing Interests.

You should read and save this LaTeX file. It contains almost all the elements you need to learn in order to write in LaTeX. Some free web services are also available. See ChatGPT, Overleaf.com and <https://www.mathcha.io/>

Declarations

- Data Availability Please provide details regarding where data supporting reported results can be found, including links to publicly archived datasets analyzed or generated during the study. If the study did not report any data, you might add “Not applicable” here. Authors who need help understanding our data sharing policies, help finding a suitable data repository, or help organising and sharing research data can access our Author Support portal for additional guidance.
- Code Availability For all studies using custom code or mathematical algorithm that is deemed central to the conclusions, a statement must be included under the heading “Code availability”, indicating whether and how the code or algorithm can be accessed, including any restrictions to access.
- Conflict of Interest Authors are required to disclose financial or non-financial interests that are directly or indirectly related to the work submitted for publication. Interests within the last 3 years of beginning the work (conducting the research and preparing the work for submission) should be reported. Interests outside the 3-year time frame must be disclosed if they could reasonably be perceived as influencing the submitted work.

If any of the sections are not relevant to your manuscript, please include the heading and write ‘Not applicable’ for that section.
